The Challenge

Renu, a 30-year-old from Nabi Karim, Qila Kadam Sharif, struggled to find meaningful work despite holding an MA degree. With limited opportunities in her area, supporting her family of three was deeply challenging. Despite her educational qualifications, the path forward seemed uncertain.

The Turning Point

Determined to improve her situation, Renu joined SHUBH Trust — an organization dedicated to empowering women through skill development. She began by attending stitching workshops, mastering the art of creating blouses and suits.

Following this, she enrolled in beautician training, learning makeup techniques, mehndi application, and facial treatments.

"These workshops provided not only technical skills but also valuable industry insights, boosting her confidence and expanding her abilities."

The Transformation

Today, Renu applies her skills locally, significantly contributing to her family's income. Her time with SHUBH Trust has been truly transformative — empowering her to dream bigger. Now, she aspires to open her own parlor, working diligently towards achieving greater independence and a brighter future for herself and her family.
